AUTO CRUSHES PLAYING BOYS, KILLING ONE

Henry Schumacher, 7 Years
Old, Tossed to Death on Richmond Turnpike.

DRAGS TWO UNDER CAR "Driver" of Team of Lads Pulls Them Into Danger With Dead Hand's Grip.

Three little boys playing in Richmond turnpike, near Zebra avenue, Tompkinsville, Staten Island, were run down by an automobile to-day. One of the boys, Henry Schumacher, seven years old, of Zebra avenue, was instantly killed. Elmer Meyers, six years old, sustained a fracture of the right wrist, and Henry Perina, five years old, was painfully lacerated.

Richard Agar, a glass importer, of No. 11 Broadway, owner of the car, placed the injured lads and the body of the little Schumacher boy in the tonneau and took them to the Smith Infirmary, which is a short distance from the scene of the accident. There it was found that Schumacher's skull had been fractured and that death had been immediate.

The hospital authorities notified the police and the Coroner of the accident. Mr. Agar voluntarily remained at the hospital awaiting the arrival of a policeman.

Auto Dashes From Behind Truck.

The little boys were "playing horse." Schumacher was the driver, and his two companions, fastened with ropes, were his "horses." They pranced and circled out of Zebra avenue into the turnpike and started down the steep hill.

Right behind them was a truck, and behind the truck was the automobile. Mr. Agar did not see the boys, and when he caught up with the truck he turned to the right, toward the gutter, to pass it.

The boys to avoid the truck had also veered to the gutter, and as the automobile swung around they were directly in its path. Before Mr. Agar could apply the brake the car struck Schumacher and hurled him ten feet.

He had a tight grip on the reins controlling his make-believe horses and they were dragged with him into the path of the car, knocked down and pushed along on the pavement. When the automobile stopped Schumacher's body was under it.

Passengers on a trolley car climbing the hill saw the accident and jumped off, with the intention of stopping the chauffeur should he attempt to escape, but he had no intention of getting away. He was deeply distressed over the accident, and it was at his suggestion that

Extraordinary Photos of Roosevelt Hunting in the African Wilds

Trick Pictures Show the President in Remarkable Deeds of Prowess Suggested by His Strenuous Career.

Mr. Roosevelt's companions are much amused at his idea of bringing back from the African belt the skins of lions and the tusks of elephants, more particularly as he is, by his own admission, a worse than mediocre shot, a fact attributed as much to his short-sightedness as to his physical horror of inaction, which prevents him from stopping long enough to aim.

In one of these pictures we see the king of the desert heading an ignominious retreat before the big stick brandished by his intrepid adversary. Another shows the noble hunter encountering a furious lion with no arms save a glass tube, through which he projects bread balls at the animal.

Another snapshot shows the President before an elephant charging furiously upon him, rolling up his sleeves as though preparing for a boxing bout. This boxing bout, even though in a trick photograph, expresses the real Roosevelt, the fighter.

DRESSMAKERS TALK OF LATEST STYLE IN BRIDAL OUTFIT

Living Kaleidoscope of Pretty Models in New "Creations" a Feature Yesterday.

They are discussing the bride's trousseau to-day at the session of the Dressmakers' Protective Association in Masonic Hall, and men are not being excluded. When Miss White gets through demonstrating and explaining the men present will know more about bride's clothes than they ever would by their own observation.

Yesterday afternoon Miss Elizabeth A. C. White, President of the association, again took possession of the stage, along with five handsome young women who were certified to be "models." Each was arrayed in a consummation of an artist's dream.

Miss White was a ripple of pale shining gold. One of the young women was a dash of delicate blue; a second was a shimmer of the sweetest pink; a third was a wash of tender green; a fourth was a rich undertone of lustrous purple, and the fifth was a counterpoint of warmest bronze. Back and forth on the stage, slowly passing and retreating each other, glided these incarnations of color, and every moment a new combination of colors was revealed.

The preliminary promenade Miss White first dissected—figuratively speaking—her own wonderful invention, a long, expert, exhaustive and, to male listeners, exhausting exposition. Every sentence seemed a golden text to the professionals.

The evening session was dedicated to the corset and the audience was mired of every male creature. The doors were hermetically sealed and jealousy prevented.

The boys were bundled into the car and hurried to the hospital.

Wealthy Driver Is Held.

Mr. Agar was arrested by the first policeman who reached the hospital and was later arraigned in the Magistrate's Court at New Brighton. He was held in $1,000 bail, which was furnished. Mr. Agar is wealthy and lives in Tompkinsville, Staten Island. He was on his way to the ferry landing when the accident occurred.

According to Mr. Agar's story, the little boys were hidden from view behind the truck which was in front of him. They ran across the path of his car when he was half way around the turn. He says his machine was running slowly.

TAKES T. L. HAMILTON'S PLACE

The Building Code Revision Commission membership of Thomas L. Hamilton, made vacant by his death, has been filled by the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen, who have named Charles M. Murphy, a builder, of No. 8 East Forty-second street.

BASEBALL WITH WHISKERS FOR ALDERMEN GAME

Looks Like Hughes, and Republicans Are Expected to Strike Out.

On account of the primary election practice had to be suspended by the demon athletes now getting in trim for the great game to-morrow at American League grounds between the Republicans and Democratic members of the Board of Aldermen for the real championship of New York.

Manager Kavanagh, of the Democratic forces, as well as Manager Beyer, of the Republicans, had his men out of this afternoon, and they showed up in excellent form. Manager Kavanagh has decided definitely that Little Tim Sullivan will not be allowed to play in the outfield. He will be kept on the Democratic bench as an emergency hitter, and will go to the plate if the bases are full and one wallop is needed to break up the game.

"I am giving the matter careful consideration," said Manager Kavanagh today, "but as yet I am undecided as to who will pitch. I am liable to spring something on these Republicans to-morrow when we meet in deadly combat at the American League grounds, and you can readily understand why I do not care to discuss my plans for publication."

"I will say, however, that one of my twisters living over in Queens has shown us something that is liable to startle the baseball world. His name will be withheld for the present. He has a curve known as the 'bristle ball,' and it is going to break havoc among the Republican swarms. This ball develops a full set of whiskers as it approaches the plate and bears a striking resemblance to the profile of Gov. Hughes. I don't see how any Republican can get up nerve enough to strike at that ball. It's a world beater."

Manager Beyer was equally confident. When interviewed, he was seated in his office, looking over some blue prints of a baseball and its interior workings. While he is also very secretive, it is said that one of his plans is to run up a picture of Pat McCarran in the pitcher's box just as his crack pitcher, Freddy Linde, goes to pitch to Tammany batters.

The Republican team is a fast running organization, but up to the present the players have shown but little class as hitters on local grounds. The great game will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. It would be dangerous to announce the umpire at this time. Suffice it to say that he will be well armed.

POLICY PLAYERS GO TO CELLS ON PLEAS OF GUILTY

Twenty-three of Twenty-nine Offenders Sentenced to Prison or Fined.

Part I. Court of General Sessions, looked like a convention of policy players to-day when twenty-nine indicted offenders against the new law were called to plead before Judge Swan. Twenty-three promptly pleaded guilty. The other six were given a respite until Friday.

The prisoners were a polyglot lot, representing half a dozen nationalities, old age and youth, white and black, and included two women, one Ada Black, a white woman, and another, Mary Nicoloso, a negro. Some were frightened as they approached the open prison gates and others laughingly invited fate.

As the prisoners were called, each stood up in a line against the courtroom wall. There was Thomas Gallagher, twenty-one years old, indicted three times under different names; Christopher Wendell, sixty-one years old, of New Dorp, indicted three times; and ponderous Frederick Eichler, of No. 32 West Thirty-eighth street, much bedeviled and bedeviled. He is a son of the Eichler who is said to be the policy player's regular bondsmen. These three were remanded until Friday.

Easy on First Offenders.

Assistant District Attorney Garvan made a plea for ten of the prisoners. "They are all first offenders," said Mr. Garvan. "They had no connection with the games and are simply poor victims. I recommend a fine of $5."

Judge Swan said that sum was too severe.

"I want you all to understand that a wave of reform is sweeping over the earth," he said. "I have just returned from France and Belgium and I saw it there. If you come back here you will all go to prison. I fine you each $15."

Few of them wanted to pay money and most of them wanted to be let off. When the police started Ada Black and demanded to see the Judge. Some one told Judge Swan and he sent for her. She told the Court she had a ten-month-old baby at home in Eldridge street and he released her on parole until Friday.

GUFFEY SELLS OIL HOLDINGS

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Sept. 9.—Col. J. M. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, has disposed of his extensive oil holdings in Texas. This includes a sale of his controlling interest in the J. M. Guffey Petroleum Company, the Gulf Refining Company and the Gulf Pipe Line Company.

These three allied concerns are the largest producers and refiners of oil in Texas. The Gulf Pipe Line Company recently built a pipe line 500 miles long, connecting the Oklahoma oil fields with the Texas refineries. The identity of the purchasers of Col. Guffey's holdings has not been made public.

ASKS $3,000 FOR INJURIES BY AUTO.

TRENTON, Sept. 9.—Suit for $3,000 damages has been brought in the Supreme Court by Thomas Candonna, of Freehold, against Mrs. Julia Riker Hermon, of New York, who he says ran him down with an auto when he was riding a bicycle in Middletown, Monmouth County. As Mrs. Hermon is a non-resident service was made upon J. B. R. Smith, State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, acting as her Jersey agent.

COLLIER'S CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED.

William Manna, of No. 84 East One Hundred and Sixty-first street, chauffeur for Robert J. Collier, of Collier's Weekly, was arrested last night charged with exceeding the speed limit. He was driving Mr. Collier in St. Nicholas avenue. Magistrate Moss, of the Harlem Police Court, held Manna for the Court of Special Sessions in 1909, which Mr. Collier furnished.

SHOOTS HUSBAND WHO ABUSED HER AND SURRENDERS

Mrs. Bedell Thought She Had Killed Him When She Rushed to Police.

Mrs. Mary C. Bedell, a rather good-looking woman of forty, ran, half dressed and with her hair disheveled, into the Ocean Avenue Police Station at Jersey City early this morning, crying out hysterically that she had killed her husband and wanted to be locked up.

She made this statement: "My husband, Spencer B. Bedell, is a boatman. He came home about daylight, intoxicated. He quarreled with me and tried to abuse me. I went into another room and got into bed with my mother, Mrs. Mary Bunney. He followed and attacked me again."

"My mother tried to protect me and he turned on her after striking me a blow in the face that knocked me down. I ran into the kitchen and got a revolver from behind the ice box where it was kept. When I got back to the bedroom my husband was dragging my old mother about by the hair. Fearing he would kill us I began firing. I was so excited that I can't tell how many times I shot. Anyway he fell and I put on some clothes and came here to surrender."

Several policemen were rushed to the Bedell home at the foot of Linden avenue. They found a groaning man lying on the floor. He had two bullet holes in his neck and one in his shoulder. At the City Hospital the surgeons were unable to tell whether he had been shot three times or twice. It was stated that he would probably recover.

The wife was locked up on a technical charge of assault. In the Second Criminal Court Judge John W. Queen held her without bond.

SOLDIERS ROUTED IN FIERCE BATTLE WITH THE POLICE

Five Artillerymen Taken Prisoners After Spectator Is Shot on Bowery.

Five of ten Fort Totten artillerymen who engaged in a battle with policemen in Chatham Square at 1:30 o'clock this morning were arraigned before Magistrate Droege in the Tombs court. One of the soldiers, named Sawyer, was held to await the result of the injuries to Edward McCredy, of No. 35 Bayard street, an innocent passer-by, who was shot in the thigh during the fight. The other four prisoners were sent to the House of Detention. The prisoners, with five other men from the same mob, had been paid off yesterday afternoon and left Willets Point for a lark on the Bowery. Before midnight barrel-house men had put them in a fighting condition, and they started to clean up Chinatown, when the reserves of the Elizabeth street station interfered.

The soldiers were completely routed, and when the smoke of battle cleared, five had been taken prisoners and the others had deserted their colors and started hot foot back for the fort, some with cut heads and others with bruises and minor injuries.

Baby Is the Only Pet Worth While, Woman's Reply to Mrs. Godfrey

"Youngster Grows Into Something to Be Proud Of, While a Cat or Dog Stays More Animal Forever," Declares Margaret Holmes Bates.

By Nixola Greeley-Smith.

MARGARET HOLMES BATES.

made recently by Mrs. W. F. Godfrey that dogs are infinitely to be preferred to babies.

"Undoubtedly there are women in New York who agree with Mrs. Godfrey," Mrs. Bates conceded. "One sees them sometimes on Fifth avenue with some tiny and highly expensive pedigree dog on the seat beside them. They prefer the dog to the baby because it looks more expensive—no one is too poor to have a baby, you know, while comparatively few can afford a pedigree Pomeranian or a blue ribbon French poodle. That may have something to do with it."

"Then, too," I suggested, "they can exhibit their dogs at a bench show."

"But there are baby shows, too," Mrs. Bates protested.

"You never heard of a fashionable woman at a baby show," I replied, "while they simply mob the Garden during the dog show."

DON'T KNOW ANY BETTER.

"Too many women to-day shirk the responsibilities of life," Mrs. Bates said more seriously. "They dread having children. They seem heartless and frivolous because their education has been neglected. They don't know any better. They won't have babies, and yet they have to assume the care of some dumb animal to appease their loneliness. They are very pitiful, I think."

"Some time ago a friend of mine suggested that I must be very lonely. My son is grown up and married, and she said that I should have some kind of a pet to care for. 'Try a dog or a cat,' she said. I replied that if I were going to take anything to care for it would be a baby, that there is some compensation in looking after a baby—in watching it develop mentally and physically. 'There is something wonderful in being the little Providence that a child always thinks its mother.'

"You can be Providence to a dog or a cat by supplying a piece of raw meat or a fish bone, but with a baby you must feed the soul as well as the body, and no matter how much of a care it may be the daily development, mental, physical and moral, will more than reward you."

ARE SOMETIMES NUISANCES.

"Of course," Mrs. Bates concluded, "babies are not unmitigated blessings. At times, indeed, they seem unmitigated nuisances—when they wake up at 5 in the morning, for instance, and absolutely refuse to go to sleep again."

"Undoubtedly dogs and cats are more docile in this respect. The woman who is looking for an easy task had much better choose them than babies. But such women cannot be taken seriously. One can only feel rather sorry for them."

AGAINST STRIKE BREAKERS.

NOTTINGHAM, Sept. 9.—The Trade Union Congress, which has been holding its forty-third session here since Monday, to-day passed a resolution condemning the British workmen who engaged themselves as strike-breakers in Germany and the colonies and asking Parliament to enact a measure under which the organizers of strike-breaking movements as well as the men themselves, could be prosecuted.

"There's a Reason"

BOSTON HAS 100,000 PUPILS.
BOSTON, Sept. 9.—The public schools of this city opened to-day with an attendance of more than 100,000. There was a lack of accommodations for the pupils in some of the districts because of repairs, but it is believed that the several hundred children who were without quarters to-day will be provided for by the end of the week. The increase in attendance over last year was estimated at 3,000, an average number.

FOUND BUT ONE CURE FOR ECZEMA

Many Different Remedies and Even Hospital Failed—Suffered 3 Years with Severe Itching, Scuffy Skin—Could Hardly Stop Scratching.

THANKFUL FOR PERFECT RESULTS OF CUTICURA

"About three years ago I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scuffy skin on my ankles and feet. I could hardly keep from scratching. In a few days large red patches appeared and after that pimples formed. I went to the hospital, and the doctors pronounced it a very bad case of eczema. I went to the hospital two months and obtained a very little relief, so I tried many different remedies for at least ten months, but none seemed to cure me. They would relieve me for a week or two, then my skin would be full of pimples, the same as ever. Lately I decided to try the Cuticura Remedies, and I am very thankful I did, for, after using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, I was completely cured. I hope that any one suffering as I did will try the Cuticura Remedies. Miss Teckla Peck, 1422 Fifth St., Highlandtown, Md., Jan. 14, 1908."
